THE REVIEW is entered at post office in Portland, Oregon, as mail matter of the second class under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

The Bachelor Club foot ball team met its first defeat of the season when they traveled to Astoria last Sunday and held the heavy Astorians to a 27 to 0 score. Although outweighed at least twenty pounds to the man the Bachelors fought every inch of the way, but everything was against them and the only question was how low they could keep the score. But the Fish City boys got all the breaks of the game and had a big advantage in the condition of the field, which was mud on one end and sand on the other. This made the game slow and gave every advantage to a heavy team, whereas speed, which the Bachelors depended upon, was impossible. The Bachelors lost "Herm" Schroeder in the first quarter, when he injured his neck and his passing ability was greatly missed. "Peg" Williams broke a rib early in the game, but finished his first half, and "Chuck" Sundstrom replaced him in the third quarter. The stars of the game would be hard to pick, but too much can not be said for the Astoria back field, as they have four men who have both weight and speed and are capable of holding their own with any independent team in the state. The work of "Grit" and "Scott" Lind on the end positions for the Bachelors was the feature of the game as these two broke up play after play by their speed and hard tackling. The Bachelors play the Sellwood team next Sunday at Pier Park. This will be the second game of the City League scheduled and the boys are determined to get revenge for last Sunday's loss.—Reported.

The attendance at the Community Church last Sabbath was a splendid response to the "Go to Church Sunday" campaign. At Sunday school the 3 C class, which is being taught by Mrs. Shaw, had the best attendance. At the morning service Mrs. Green gave a short report of the convention held at Eugene, Mrs. Lillian Blow of Newport, Wash., sang "The Way of Peace." At the evening service the Parables of Christ were illustrated with slides. Plans are being laid for the organization of a Young Peoples Society of Christian Endeavor. The Bible Study Class will meet at 7:15 Friday evening. The thought for Sunday will be "The Price of Power." There will be special music. The evening service will be one that you will not only enjoy, but it will be helpful.—Reported.

One night father and I thought we heard burglars down stairs in our home. Father said: "Let's go down to the police." So we went down and father said to the policeman: "There have been some thieves in our house." "Yes," answered the officer, "we have been onto that for about a year and a half."—Rx.

A reception in honor of Rev. Kloster and his family will be given at the new M. E. church this Friday, evening. A special program has been prepared, good music, refreshments and a thoroughly good time is bound to ensue.

"LET'S ALL GET MARRIED"

To be presented by Bachelor Club at James John High Auditorium. An enjoyable evening's entertainment is in store for all who may be fortunate enough to obtain seats in the High School auditorium on Nov. 5th. "Let's All Get Married" abounds in sparkling wit and many delightfully funny situations, ably presented by the Club's All Star cast. Miss Lola Murphy and Harry Fasset in the leading roles are strongly supported by the Misses Clara Nelson, Caroline Linn, Minnie Merx, "Spoke" Marlett, "Gummy" Teeling, "Tum" Kelhier, "Hap" Pahl and Mr. "Ske" Larson. Preparation for the play is progressing rapidly under the able direction of Mrs. Geo. Hall. Seats will be on sale beginning Oct. 25, and can be obtained from any of the Club members. Proceeds of this play will go toward financing the Bachelor Club foot ball and basket ball teams.

HAVE APPRECIATION OF LIGHT

Citizens of Colorado Town Realize What It Means to Secure the Needed Power.
You who live in cities where the electricity is a thing to be taken for granted, requiring only the pressing of a button, would appreciate it more if you could see what has to be done to Green Mountain Falls, Colo., before we have any light.

In the first place, we don't have any electric light at all until 6 or 6:30 o'clock in the evening. And the only reason that we have that, is because the men who manage the power plant, which is situated almost at the very top of a mountain, start their long and far-from-easy climb every night about 5:30 and turn on the lights for us.

It may sound very simple and all that, but if you could see the speck that is the power house, way, way up there against the side of an exceedingly steep and rocky mountain, you would change your mind about it. They say the climb is about a mile. And sometimes in the midst of a severe thunder storm, when the rain is hurrying itself down the mountain, and the falls are roaring in stentorian tones, and the trees are straining and moaning in the wind, you wonder that the men ever reach the top at all, and are more than thankful when the lights finally go on. For that is our only way of knowing that the men have reached there safely.—Kansas City Star.

Weather Affects Watch Springs.
Did you ever have the mainspring of a watch break? If you did, the chances are that this occurred in thunderstorm weather, writes C. A. Briggs in Popular Mechanics Magazine. It has been the experience of many jewelers that in thunderstorm seasons the number of broken watch mainsprings increases greatly. This has been erroneously ascribed, though somewhat vaguely, to the effect of electricity, magnetism, and of the noise from the thunder, but an analysis of the explanations attempted fails to develop any reasonable relation in accord with these ideas.

This matter has recently been made the subject of scientific study. It was finally found to arise from the fact that at this time of the year the air was both warm and moist, and that both of these conditions facilitated rusting. A small spot of rust often starts on the spring or in a crack, and the spring soon weakens and lets go.

The Compass Plant.
On the prairie and plains of Utah, Texas and southern Minnesota there grows a wonderful plant which has proved useful to travelers wandering over these vast tracts of country. It is called the compass plant, or pilot plant, because of a peculiarity in the growth of the leaves, which grow alternately along the stalk, and point precisely north and south! The Indians followed the direction given them by these pointing leaves, and told the white men about it. This plant belongs to the family of the Compositae, and looks very much like the sunflower. It has a strong, resinous odor, somewhat like turpentine, and sometimes goes by the name of "turpentine plant."—Christian Science Monitor.

Testing Pearls.
Two professors in physics at London university, England, are conducting exhaustive tests, on behalf of the Daily Mail, with a view to finding a possible difference between ordinary and Japanese pearls. A Japanese pearl is produced by inserting a seed pearl or mother of pearl into the liver of an oyster. Alfred E. Culvert, a fellow of the Chemical society, stated recently that the several specimens of Japanese pearls he possesses are identical in weight, color and luster with ordinary pearls, and they are produced by the oyster with the same materials and by the same process as the other variety.
